WEDNESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 2.

CELIBACY OF WASHINGTON IRVING.—Instead of being a "defect," the celibacy of Irving was his crown of glory. Those who have studied his writings must have been struck with the remarkable transition from humor to pathos, from the broadest fun to the most meditative sentiment, which occurs between the faceted history of New York and the Sketch Book. Many, perhaps, imagine that this is accounted for by his loss of fortune. It had its origin in one of those disappointments of the heart which color all the subsequent life of a true man. We trust that now there is no want of delicacy in alluding to the fact that the subject of Irving's love died during their betrothal. We have heard the last interview described by a member of her family; and to the sacred sorrow thus engendered is to be ascribed much that is touching and true in the sentiment of Irving's writings; to his fealty to this affection, in no small degree, is owing the sensibility which kept his heart fresh to the last, and above all, that respect for and sympathy with the innate and holy sentiments of humanity, which he so uniformly cherished and manifested in his letters and in life.

Nor is this all. Time may have healed the wound and reconciled the bereft to another relation; but there intervened a period of disaster which drove the eldest brother to bankruptcy. For his sake and that of his family of daughters, Washington Irving continued single, took them home, and became a father to the children. Baffled was the mutual devotion; happy their congenial household, and Sunnyside is now bequeathed to them.

The sessions of the several departments open as follows: the Preparatory, Sept. 9th; the Collegiate, Sept. 24th; the Theological, October 7th; the Law, October 14th, and the Medical, October 19th.
This College was organized with reference to the oft repeated suggestion of Washington that a University at the Federal Metropolis would be a great benefit to the country, and the common education of a portion of its youth from every quarter.
Its graduates have verified the expectations of Madison and Monroe, that the facilities of hearing debates in Congress, arguments in the Supreme Court, and Lectures from the halls of science and of visiting Libraries and Collections in Science gathered at this center, would foster a comprehensive mental development. The Preparatory School gives a thorough training for business and preparation for College. The College proper has eight efficient professors; and has been blessed with the presence of Hon. Charles Sumner, and other distinguished Professors and Lecturers; the Law School four, and the Medical ten. The expenses are as low as at other colleges.
Number of students the past year 434.

VIRGINIA, to wit:—In the Circuit Court of Fairfax County, August rules, 1868, James L. Howard, plaintiff, vs. John P. Bonnell, J. H. Bryant, James K. O'Brien, Henry Bonnell, Oscar A. Stevens, and S. Ferguson Beach, defendants. In chancery and upon an attachment. The object of this suit is to attach a certain tract of land in Alexandria county, which was conveyed by Virginia Scott to the defendants, John P. Bonnell, J. H. Bryant, James K. O'Brien, Henry Bonnell, Oscar A. Stevens, and S. Ferguson Beach, by deed, dated the 9th of August, 1867, containing 96 acres, 3 rods and 21 perches, and on which the above defendants executed a deed of trust to S. Ferguson Beach, dated on the same day, to secure the payment of $7500, and held by the complainant, the one of two notes the other for $2000, both dated the 5th of July, 1867, and payable at the American National Bank, at New York, to the order of the drawer, the former at 6 months and the latter at 90 days from date, with interest from date, and to obtain a decree for the sale of the said tract of land for the above designated purpose.
The defendants, John P. Bonnell, J. H. Bryant, James K. O'Brien, Henry Bonnell and Oscar A. Stevens, not having entered their appearance and given security according to the act of Assembly, and the rules of this Court, and it appearing by affidavit that they are not residents of this State, it is ordered that the said defendants appear here within one month after due publication of this order, and do what is necessary to protect their interests in this cause, and that a copy of this order be forthwith inserted in the Alexandria Gazette, a newspaper published in the city of Alexandria, once a week for four successive weeks, and posted at the front door of the Court House of this county.
